'Two Horizons': Pacific Studies in a Cosmopolitan World

Biennial Conference of the Australian Association for Pacific Studies 2018
4-7 April, University of Adelaide, Adelaide, South Australia

The AAPS annual lecture in memory of Epeli Hau'ofa will be delivered on April 4 by Prof. Vicente M. Diaz, University of Minnesota.

We invite proposals for panels, papers and performances on the topic of 'Two Horizons'. These may include the following themes, or any aspect of Pacific Studies:

- Collections, curation and preservation
- Human trafficking and labour
- Heritages and histories
- Old and new mobilities
- Policies and practices
- Art and activism
- Militarism and sovereignties
- Material cultures and methods
- Health issues and outcomes
- Genders, sexualities, bodies
- Literary tactics and authorship
- Land and sea futures

Te onauti*
Teresia Teaiwa

*Be te onauti
And fly.
Walking is for
Pathetic bipeds,
And swimming
Only half an option.*

*Men see one horizon
Where you always see two.*

*Perhaps that is why fishermen lost and unable to stomach
any more of the sea feel fortunate to catch you so they may suck on your eyes.*

*Fish out of water: fly.
Fish, out of water, see two horizons.*
